

Cameron Ashley Building Products Announces Relocation of Houston Distribution Center

Greenville, SC – July 12, 2019 – Cameron Ashley Building Products, Inc. (Cameron Ashley), announces the opening of its newest building products distribution center at 5175 World Houston Parkway, Houston, TX 77032. The new location will serve customers in the Houston metro area, as well as surrounding local markets.

The distribution center will provide sales, marketing, merchandising, and local inventory support for continued growth in roofing, insulation, and other building materials in an established Cameron Ashley service area.

“Houston is a strong market, and we are pleased to continue our focus there,” said Regional Vice President, Aaron Davis. “We’re setting up our new facility to best serve our current customers, but also accommodate the needs of new customers.”

In addition to a full-line insulation offering from Knauf Insulation, key suppliers stocked at this location will include TAMKO Roofing, CertainTeed Roofing, Lomanco Ventilation, Armstrong Ceilings, and more. Future product expansion will be based on customer needs in the area.
